In conjunction with the City of Sidney, Nebraska, the Sidney Public Library is an equal opportunity, affirmative-action employer.

The Library hires people for four kinds of employment:

- Full-time permanent (ongoing employment; 40 hours per week)
- Part-time permanent (ongoing employment; less than 40 hours per week)

Positions at the Sidney Public Library may be filled in one of two ways.

First, the Library Director may offer the position to a current or prior Library employee who has demonstrated high quality in his/her job performance and work habits and is in good standing without first advertising the position. Positions need not be filled from within the organization, but they can be -- without advertising.

Second, the Library Director may advertise a particular job opening to accumulate a pool of applicants from which one or more applicants are chosen. Advertisement of position openings may result in a pool of applicants from which one or more positions are filled. If a full-time position is advertised, but no qualified applicants are found, it may be split into two or more part-time positions at the discretion of the Library Director.

PERFORMANCE EVALUATIONS

Library Director's Performance Evaluation Policy

Pursuant to Nebraska Library Law 51-211 and the Sidney Public Library Policies and Procedures (revised 1992, page 4), the Library Board shall have the power to appoint a suitable Library Director, to fix his compensation, and to remove their appointee at pleasure.

Library Staff Performance Evaluation

Exercising the responsibility delegated by the Library Board for personnel administration, pursuant to Sidney Public Library Policies and Procedures (revised 1992, page 5), the Library Director reviews employees' performance evaluation at the end of a new-hire probationary period, a promotional probationary period, and annually thereafter. This evaluation will include a salary recommendation. Hourly employees are exempt from these provisions.

For standard or better, the Library Director will grant a salary increase of one-step on the established salary grade up to Step F; for standard performance, employees may be retained at Step F without prejudice. For above standard to outstanding performance, a two-step salary increase may be granted with adequate documentation subject to approval of the Library Board.

As a result of a below-standard performance evaluation, the Library Director may deny a salary increase or defer it for as many as twelve (12) pay periods; another performance evaluation will be prepared by the conclusion of the period of deferral. No salary increase will be granted on an unsatisfactory performance evaluation. Employees failing to achieve a rating of standard or above on a new-hire probation evaluation may be terminated without recourse.

Employees failing to achieve a rating of standard or above on an evaluation of promotional probation may be returned to their previous classification, if an opening exists, with a salary equal to not more than one step higher than their previous step in the grade to which returned; in no case will the salary be higher than the highest step of the grade to which the employee is returned. If there is no opening in the previous classification, the employee failing promotional probation will be separated from the Library employment and placed at the top of an eligibility list for one year for rehire in that classification.

In addition to regularly scheduled evaluations, interim performance evaluations may be prepared as necessary. Performance evaluations and salary review dates for Library employees at the time of adoption of this policy will be set to coincide with the fiscal year.

COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT

Introduction

The Sidney Public Library's primary responsibility is to provide materials that meet the wide variety of interests of a diverse clientele. It serves a broad community in the City of Sidney and the County of Cheyenne whose residents represent various socio-economic and educational levels.

The Library Provides resources and materials that encourage an informed and enlightened society. It organizes materials and guides users of all ages in their search for reliable information, greater understanding, and a creative pattern for living. It is guided by a sense of responsibility from the past to the present and into the future to develop a collection that encompasses all of human knowledge. The Library does not try to determine what the public should read, nor does it select as if granting a seal of merit. Rather, it attempts to meet the demands of an inquisitive, enlighten readership.

Responsibility and Selection

Materials are selected in all media to satisfy residents of all ages both as individuals and as members of groups. The Library recognizes its responsibility to have available a representative selection of materials on all points of view including fiction and recreational subjects. The Library provides a resource where individuals can examine issues fully and formulate their own opinions. It is policy of the Sidney Public Library to avoid the sensational and inflammatory, as well as materials exhibiting racial or religious prejudice and those containing undocumented charges of libelous nature.

The Library seeks to present sound, factual data and honest expressions of opinion on all sides of controversial issues. This obligation arises not only from the need for balance and variety in the collection, but also from the obligation to uphold the traditional American doctrines of Freedom of Speech and Freedom of the Press as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, and supported by the American Library Association's Library Bill of Rights. In a democracy, it is essential that people have free access to ideas, even those of which some people disapprove; so-called "wrong" ideas can be effectively analyzed only through free access to information.

It is the policy of the Sidney Public Library not to take sides on public issues. It does not endorse the opinion or points of view expressed in its collection. Materials are selected using professional standards regardless of the personal opinions of any of the Library staff.

The Sidney Public Library provides several levels of service: basic community service, extension service through the Bookmobile, information networking and interlibrary loan in cooperation with the Nebraska Library Commission and OCLC. Yet, in Sidney and in Cheyenne County there are elementary, secondary, and higher education facilities, many with their own libraries.

Thus, while the Sidney Public Library has material on every subject and grade level, as a matter of policy, no attempt is made to become curriculum oriented. However, consideration is given to the needs of people engaged in self-education by providing introductory and more advanced materials for those who wish to pursue independent study. The Library serves as a supplemental source in meeting the educational needs of students and it provides a wide variety of resources which may supplement academic programs.

The responsibility for the selection of library materials rests with the Adult Services Librarian and Children's Librarian, with final approval by the Director. The Library Director evaluates library materials within the context of this policy and the limits of available resources. Staff members also may participate in the selection process according to their expertise. The Sidney Public Library invites suggestions for purchase from the community of users.

Guidelines and Criteria

To build collections of merit and significance, materials must be measured by objective criteria. All acquisitions of library material, whether purchased or received as gifts, are considered in terms of the following guidelines. Clearly, however, an item need not meet all the criteria in order to be acceptable. Appraisal of library material should consider the degree of importance of each criterion as applied to the particular item under consideration.

1. Overall Purpose - One criterion is the presumed intent of the author and the sincerity of his/her purpose. This is a valid standard and, although only subjective judgments can be made concerning it, titles are selected on the basis of the context as a whole. The honesty and integrity of the author is closely scrutinized in all media. Reading tastes continually change to reflect social and literary trends. Materials containing course language or certain subjects, which may be objectionable to some people, are included when it is judged that the author is sincere in what he/she is trying to portray. While the Library recognizes that some users may object, an attempt is made to provide materials to suit a variety of tastes.
2. Reputation of Author - In considering the reputation of the author, thought is given to several factors: whether or not his/her work is read and requested, even if a new title is not as well done as a previous work; whether the author has not been as widely read by the general population, yet his/her work may be a significant cultural contribution.
3. Timeliness - Illumination of the present or another era is an important consideration. Books on issues of current interest are purchased if timeliness gives them relevance and importance.
4. Permanent Value and Importance to the Collection - The comprehensiveness, clarity, accuracy and logic of presentation are all considered in determining the permanent value and importance of materials to the collection. In addition to past and current distinguished material, the Library also acquires popular and experimental works having potential future value.
5. Popular Demand - Demand is also a factor in book selection. To be of any value, best sellers must be chosen in time to meet mass demand. Usually these are selected as soon as they read the best seller lists.
6. Appearance in Book Selection Aids - Since it is impossible for the Library Staff to personally review the large number of books published, reviews found in professional, literary, specialized, and general periodicals as well as special bibliographies are used as a beginning for selection in addition to the standard library bibliographies.
7. Reputation of Publisher and Material Format - The reputation of the publisher as a reliable producer is also considered in evaluation of materials. Specifically with books, the quality of paper, the presswork, and the binding are all considered in evaluating the impression of the book. In some instances, these standards cannot be applied without sacrificing their content and significance.

Gifts

A gift for the Library collection may consist of material or of funds for the purchase of materials. While the Sidney Public Library encourages unrestricted gifts of funds to permit their most flexible use to enrich the collection, funds are welcomed for the purchase of specific items as well as for the acquisition of material recommended by the Library Staff.

Materials given to the Sidney Public Library are evaluated by the same standards as purchased material. It is explicitly understood that such factors as duplication, lack of community interest, processing costs, or inadequate housing may prevent the addition of gifts to the collection, or their permanent retention and that, if the Library cannot use them, it may dispose of the gifts in any appropriate manner.

Weeding

Weeding is the systematic evaluation of the Library's collection with an eye to the withdrawal of damaged or obsolete materials from the collection. This process is an integral part of collection development.

The library maintains an active withdrawal policy based on removal of unnecessary items, outdated material, books no longer of interest or in demand, duplicates, and worn or mutilated copies. Frequency of circulation, community interest, and the availability of newer and more valid materials are of prime consideration. Both fiction and non-fiction items purchased to meet a demand which no longer exists are withdrawn. The library will retain local history, writings by local and select Nebraska authors and books with local settings regardless of circulation patterns.

In line with guidelines established for accreditation of Nebraska libraries, it is expected that 3% of the collection will be weeded annually when averaged over a three-year period of time.

Materials discarded from the collection are turned over to the Sidney Public Library Foundation for dispersal through book sales or donations to other libraries.

Approved by the Library Board September 9, 2013

Controversial Material

The Library does not practice censorship. Patrons desiring reconsideration of any material should complete the Library's Reconsideration of Materials Form. When a patron submits a written request for reconsideration of an item in the Library's collection, it will be reviewed by Library Staff in light of the Collections Development Policy. The Library Director will make a recommendation in the matter and final determination will be made by the Library Board.

Approved by the Library Board, September 9, 2013

Reconsideration of Material Procedure

1. Ask patron to speak to the Library Director about complaint/concern.
2. If necessary, ask patron to complete a Reconsideration of Material form. This allows the patron and the Library Director to focus on the facts of the complaint.
3. Once the form is completed, the Library Director and staff are responsible for reviewing the objections. Any material used in the selection process should be obtained and reviewed for an evaluation of the material being reconsidered. Using the guidelines for selection of library material as outlined in this manual, a decision is made. The Library Director then informs the patron in writing and explains the decision.
4. If the patron continues to feel the objections were inadequately reviewed, the patron may take his/her complaint to the Library Board. The Library Board will take appropriate action by reviewing the material, the merits of the request and the initial response by the Library Director. The Library Board will reach a decision and inform the patron in writing.

Approved April 12, 2004

Photocopying Prices and Related Policies

Students and other patrons often need only a small amount of specific information from a source. Often, patrons will check out a title rather than simply photocopying the small amount of material they really need. This causes information needed by other patrons to be removed from the Library, reducing the level of service we are able to provide to our customers.

The Sidney Public Library Board has approved the photocopying costs listed on the following page of this policy sheet. This should make photocopying an affordable alternative to check out of heavily used materials. All staff are encouraged to suggest photocopying to patrons.

If a patron has a question that can be answered by running a quick photocopy, staff should not hesitate to do this AT THE LIBRARY'S EXPENSE. The small cost to make a photocopy for a patron is returned many times in the goodwill we can create.

Approved by the Library Board December 13, 1993

So that we may provide all library users with the best possible service, please remember that others also enjoy or may need these materials. All library users are encouraged to...

Please check out only what you know you will use.

The Library reserves the right to limit the number of titles checked out to any patron at any time.

Educators, businesses, and others will be encouraged to have multiple titles on a given subject placed on reserve as "reserve use titles" rather than checking out all of the Library's materials on any given topic. There is no charge for this service.

- At any time contact police if the patron is not responding to staff requests to conform to the Library Rules.

INTERNET SAFETY AND USE POLICY

Introduction

In response to the changing needs of our community, Sidney Public Library provides resources and services which meet the cultural, educational, informational, and recreational needs of Sidney and Cheyenne County's growing and diverse community. It is within this context that the Sidney Public Library offers its patron's access to the Internet.

The policy of Sidney Public Library is to: (a) prevent unauthorized access and other unlawful online activity; (b) prevent unauthorized online disclosure, use, or dissemination of personal identification information of minors; and (c) comply with the Children's Internet Protection Act (Pub.L.No. 106-554 and 47 USC 254(h)).

As with other Library materials, parents and legal guardians who are concerned about their children's use of the Internet should provide guidance to their children and should monitor their use of this resource. The Library cannot act in loco parentis. It is the responsibility of parents or guardians, not the Library staff, to guide their children—and only their children—in the selection of resources compatible with the values and beliefs of their family. Patrons under 18 years of age must have a borrower form signed by a parent/guardian before using the Internet.

The Library reserves the right to terminate an Internet session at any time. Any misuse or abuse directed toward other Library users, Library staff, the Library’s services and/or equipment will result in suspension of Library privileges.

Patron Responsibility for Computer Access:

In order to reduce staffing cost and to better serve the general public, the Board of the Sidney Public Library has instituted the following policy regarding patron requests for computer training.

1. All patrons using Library computers to run software programs not directly related to library-type functions, such as catalog searches, are expected to possess sufficient knowledge to operate the software with minimum assistance from the Library staff.
2. Staff members will not be responsible for training patrons in the use of such programs as Word, Works, Internet, Games, etc. Staff members are responsible only for assisting patrons in the use of the library-related programs such as catalog searches.
3. Patrons desiring training in the use of any of the computer software are encouraged to inquire as to training materials the Library may have available. In addition, patrons are encouraged to check into local training courses that may be available.
